

Marvel series Daredevil, Jessica Jones, The Defenders are lastly leaving Netflix – CNET

Daredevil strikes a brave position.

Netflix

Marvel TELEVISION series Jessica Jones, Daredevil, Iron Fist, Luke Cage, Punisher and The Defenders will be leaving Netflix at the end of this month, CNET has actually discovered.

The MCU series were produced pre-Disney Plus days, so they were made for Netflix. The TELEVISION reveals were all canceled by Netflix by 2018. The rights will go back back to Disney on Feb. 28, as reported earlier Friday by What's on Netflix.

No word yet on whether any or all of the series will be restored now that they're Disney home once again, though Charlie Cox's Daredevil did appear in Spider-Man: No Way Home, as did Daredevil badguy Kingpin in the Hawkeye series on Disney Plus.

Read more: MCU timeline: How to watch all 23 Marvel motion pictures in the best order

2022's finest TELEVISION reveals you can't miss out on on Netflix, HBO, Disney Plus and more

See all images

Entertain your brain with the coolest news from streaming to superheroes, memes to video videogames.

Source: Marvel series Daredevil, Jessica Jones, The Defenders are lastly leaving Netflix – CNET